10 Incorrect Logo Usage

Logo Mark

The logo is a foundational element of the brand identity, serving as the key element for visual brand recognition. The Aha logo mark is a formed in a custom script type lock in a stylized exclamation point holding shape.

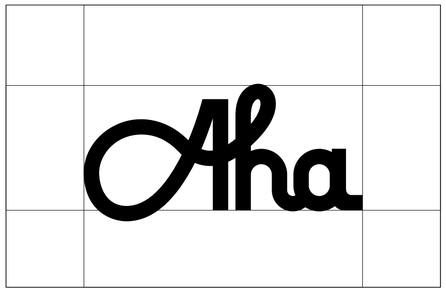

Logo Variations

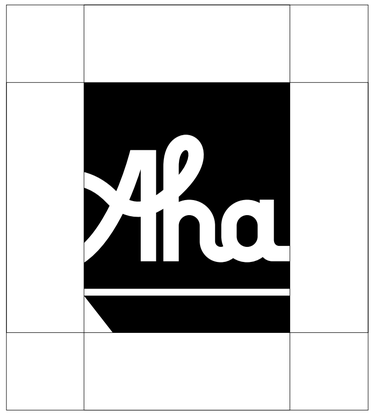

The Aha logos function as a system within the brand identity to increase versatility through application. Illustrated above are the approved layouts (or “lockups”) in which the logo may be shown. The lockup selected for use must showcase prominent representation of the brand, as well as overall cohesiveness with surrounding elements.

Scaling and Sizing

When sizing the Aha logo, surrounding environment and application should be taken into consideration to maintain a high standard for representation and recognizability. As illustrated above, legibility must be maintained when scaling down in size.

Area of Isolation

The area surrounding the logo has an impact on display, effectiveness and portraying the reputation of the brand. To keep a cohesive and consistent representation, the area equating to 70% of the height of the first “A” on every side of the logo, should remain clear with the exception of background elements (colors, images, textures or patterns).
